

The reducivity of spherical curves

Ayaka Shimizu

Hiroshima University

Abstract. We show that we can obtain a reducible spherical curve from any non-trivial spherical curve by three or less inverse-half-twisted splices, i.e., the reducivity, which represents how reduced a spherical curve is, is three or less. We also discuss some unavoidable sets of tangles for spherical curves.